

CHAIRMAN YOUNG DENIES REPORT

Says Random Conversation in Restaurant Had No Official Authorization.

ABSOLUTELY NO DEAL EXISTS

Asks Deseret News to Publish the Following Denial Which Is Official.

Joseph A. Young, chairman of the county Democratic committee, today emphatically denied that any trade or deal whereby four offices on the county ticket or any other offices on any ticket, are to be traded to the "Americans." He sends the following communication to The News with the request that the same be published:

"Salt Lake City, Nov. 3, 1910.

"Editor The News.—We are astonished that a newspaper with the reputation of The Deseret News should give space to an unreasonable rumor said to have been circulated by a Republican, during a random conversation in a public restaurant between men in no way connected with the Democratic state or county committees, or having any authority from, or official connection with, the Democratic party, to the effect that a deal exists between the Democrats and the 'Americans.' It should not be necessary for us to deny this, but we do most emphatically and unhesitatingly deny it. No such compact or understanding has ever been made, authorized or contemplated in any way or at any time.

"J. A. YOUNG, Chairman Democratic county committee."

GOVERNOR SPRY TALKS IN PROVO

With Senator Sutherland He Addresses Republican Rally At Garden City.

COST OF EDUCATION IN UTAH

Speaker Says Constitutional Amendments Are Intended for Benefit of Schools—Senator's Speech.

(Special to The News.)

Provo, Nov. 3.—Senator George Sutherland and Gov. William Spry addressed a large audience in the opera house last evening on the issues of the campaign. Hon. A. L. Booth acted as chairman. Mr. Booth expressed gratification at the interest taken in the election by the people, as it showed they were anxious to become acquainted with the issues. After becoming acquainted with the principles of the parties they would vote as their judgment dictated, and after the election the people would again take up their usual vocations and the country would continue to prosper. Mr. Booth, who is a nominee for state senator, stated that if elected he would try to represent all the people in the legislature, except so far as the Republican platform promised or demanded certain measures—and in such matters he would stand for his party principles.

Gov. Spry prefaced his address by saying he did not purpose saying anything that would offend his Democratic friends. He took up the question of good roads, to which the Democratic party had pledged itself. The last Republican legislature had passed a good roads law and no better system could be devised, and he felt grateful for the commendation of this measure by the Democrats. The legislature had also created a conservation commission which had compiled a great amount of important data on the resources and development of the state, which had been of great service in pointing out the advantages of Utah before the people of the country, and in its conservation plank the Democratic party was two years behind the times.

The work of the great service in the irrigation projects at Hatchtown, in Garfield county, and at Junction, in Piute county, was explained, and the benefits to the state of the state by enabling them to secure a valuable land with water at from $20 to $35 an acre, pointed out.

The governor had also found that the average salaries of state officials was $24.5 a month, which did not show any extravagance. On the question of schools, the governor stated that the cost of education in Utah was $13,000,000 a year and referred to the appropriations made to state educational institutions by the last legislature, and the constitutional amendment providing for funds for the high schools, and he hoped this would carry all of which showed that there was not so much need for the Democratic party to denigrate the work of the last legislature.

Gov. Spry denied the charges made against the Republican party—that they had received money unlawfully from the liquor interests, but he said, he was a shameful liar, he said, that had to be bolstered up by this kind of accusation was not worth while. The charges he added, of the alleged nefarious deal between the liquor interests and the governor, to the effect that from $20,000 to $40,000 had been contributed to the party by the liquor interests, taken up by the speaker. He stated that the people who made that charge did not believe it themselves.

The speaker said a number of the leaders in the prohibition movement were now in the city, and he said the position they took in the hope of something resulting to their advantage.

SENATOR SUTHERLAND.

Senator George Sutherland spoke of the pleasure it always gave him to come to Provo, as he always felt he did not come there as a stranger, but as coming home to join the family circle. He was also glad to see the home of Uncle Jesse Knight, as he wanted to show that he (the speaker) was as generous as Mr. Knight. Mr. Knight had offered, if he was elected to the legislature, to give his salary to the Relief society, and would then tell the society how to spend it. Mr. Sutherland said that when he was elected president of the Utah State Relief society, he would not impose any restrictions in the matter of spending it.

Speaking of Republican national politics, the speaker said that the conditions had improved under the operation of the gold standard.

On the issue of prohibition the speaker said that prohibition had been injected into the politics of the state. He believed the majority of the people of Utah were opposed to the liquor traffic, but there was a difference of opinion as to the best way to handle the question. If he had his way he would consign to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean every drop of liquor in the world; but it was a question of what could be done.

Tremendous headway was being made in the way of temperance, the speaker said. When he first went to Washington as a representative, 10 years ago, he found it there in the White House restaurant. This had been abolished, and there was less drinking, by far, than there was then, because the people were learning the wisdom and benefit of the temperance cause. There was a great moral force teaching temperance by precept and example. The thing to do was to make such progress as would last.

Senator Sutherland also denied the "deal."

The Boshard quartet rendered some fine selections.

TOWNSHIP PLATS FILED.

In the office of the surveyor-general of Utah this morning, plats of the following townships were filed: Township 14 south, range 12 west, Salt Lake meridian; township 12 south, range 11 west, Salt Lake meridian.

Such lands within the townships as are not held by order of the commissioner of the general land office will be subject to entry under the provisions of the land laws of the United States on and after Dec. 15, 1910.

The scaffolding was being taken down and the men were merely shaken up.

PEACE DECLARED IN POLICE COURT

Judge Whitaker Permits City Attorney's Office to Appear.

EVERYBODY IS NOW HAPPY

This, However, With the Exception of One Samuel L. Barlow, Chief of Police.

Police Judge J. J. Whitaker has ruled and the office of the city attorney is allowed now to prosecute in the criminal division of the city court.

As a result Asst. City Atty. W. S. Dalton, with his buttonhole flower, his jaunty air and his cane are again in evidence, and for the first time in over six weeks disposed of the cases on the police court docket this afternoon. When court convened, today at 2 o'clock Mr. Dalton adjusting his flower and advancing toward the bench, laid his usual message from Mr. Dilliny on the table.

"Mr. Dalton," said Judge Whitaker, "bank on the Commission Form of Government."

"Yes, sir, your honor," stammered Dalton, wondering if he was "going to be sent to jail."

"I understand," said the court, "that you and the office of the city attorney are willing now to prosecute the cases on the docket, are you willing to abide by the rulings of this court in the future?"

"It is true, sir," said the surprised Dalton.

"Very well," said Judge Whitaker. "You may proceed. Call the first case."

Dalton was happy and the buttonhole bouquet was much in place with the smile of satisfaction that spread over his countenance. Then the usual hellishness was taken up and all went merry as a Chinese wedding.

JUDGE WHITAKER'S STATEMENT.

Judge Whitaker says: "The city attorney's office had receded from their arbitrary position and I was willing they should come back. I deplored the entire occurrence, and it is a fact that the business of the court will now go on smoothly."

Mr. Dalton was pleased, and he said he admired the spunk of Judge Whitaker, and declared that he and Mr. Dilliny were both glad that amicable relations were in order once more.

Chief of Police Sam Barlow looked gloomy when the matter was told to him and he never said a word.

Mayor Bransford was told of the decision of Judge Whitaker, and he, too, looked as if he had been defeated on a pet scheme of his own.

Judge Whitaker says further: "I suppose that the chief of police and Mayor Bransford will be put out over my action, but I am elected by the people and I can not conscientiously keep the city attorney from court if he announces that he is willing to fulfill his office and do so within the ruling of the court."

"I am perfectly independent in my action and have only the good of the public at heart, and I can make no mistake by allowing the duly elected chief of police to designate by the people to fulfill their duties, they are paid to perform as long as they do these to the satisfaction of the court."

Everybody, but Chief Sam Barlow seemed happy around police court today, and both Judge Whitaker and Dalton received many congratulations from their friends.

NEGROES TURNED LOOSE.

Henry Sims and Louisa Dale Are Not Prosecuted.

Henry Sims and Louisa Dale, colored people, who were charged by the state with having held up and robbed C. L. Aragon, a Nevada man, in Plum alley several weeks ago, were both released from custody today because the state department failed to make a case against them.

Asst. County Atty. Dan Alexander was exceedingly angry over the fall down of the police in the matter.

In the case of the two negroes it seems that the man held up left for his home at Caliente, Nevada, several days ago, telling the police that he would come when wanted at the trial notified. The information was not communicated to the county attorney, hence, when the trial came up yesterday there was no prosecuting witness. Judge Whitaker then gave the state until this morning to produce a case, this being impossible on short notice, the negroes went free.

COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL.

Following an examination as to her sanity conducted this morning by Drs. T. C. Odell and H. B. Kirtley before Judge T. D. Lewis of the Third district court, Mrs. Ada A. The examination developed the facts that Mrs. Porter is 36 years of age, that she had come to the city from Idaho, that she had mania consisted of suicidal tendencies. Testimony showed that at times she became quite violent.

SIX MONTHS FOR BROWN.

Fred Brown, the released convict who last Sunday tried to smuggle into the state prison a quantity of drugs to a fellow prisoner, will have to spend six more months in prison. The man pleaded guilty before Judge Whitaker in the police court this morning to the charge of aiding and abetting the corporation tax and the expenses of the corporation.

The furniture was attached by the government officials and held on a bond, but it was never removed from Luke's office.
